

Vladimir P.Kozin

Vladimir P.Kozin is a Head of the Group of Advisers to the Director, Russian Institute for Strategic Studies (RISS), Russian Presidential Administration, a Corresponding Member at the Russian Academy of the Natural Sciences, a Professor at the Russian Academy of Military Sciences and a Member of a new All-Russian Analytical Association.

He is a holder of the Ph.D. degree, Academic rank of a Senior Researcher and a State Counselor of the Russian Federation, 2nd Class, diplomatic rank of a "Counselor 1st Class" and a title "Honorary Staff Member of the Russian Foreign Ministry".

Vladimir P. Kozin graduated from the Moscow State Institute of International Relations, Soviet Foreign Ministry, in 1972, a post-graduate course at the Diplomatic Academy of the Soviet Foreign Ministry (in 1981) and the Royal College of Defense Studies based in London (in 1995).

In 1972-2012 he has been a staff member at the Soviet and Russian Foreign Ministries. His last position before his retirement from the Diplomatic Service was Deputy Director at the Information and Press Department, and the Head of the Information and Analytical Division at the Russian Foreign Ministry (2010-2012). In 2008-2010 he worked as a Head of Analytical and Prognosis Desk at the Department on General Asian issues. He was also a member of the Expert Team of the Interagency Working Group on the Ballistic Missile Defense talks with NATO, Russian Presidential Administration – from its establishment (2011) till it was disbanded (2013).

Vladimir P. Kozin has written seven monographs, including «Evolution of the U.S. Ballistic Missile Defense and Russia's Stance» (1945-2013). Moscow: RISS. 2014. 384 PP.; «The U.S. Nuclear Doctrine and its Military Policy Forecasting till 2075: Critical Analysis and Practical Recommendations». 2014. Saarbrücken (FRG): LAP Lambert Academic Publishing. 76 PP.; «The U.S. Tactical Nuclear Weapons: Reductions or Modernization?» 2015. Moscow: RISS. 456 PP. and «Military Policy and Strategy of the USA in Geopolitical Dynamics of the XXI century». Moscow. 2014. 368 PP. (as a co-author), and more than 340 articles on arms control and disarmament that have been published in the Soviet Union and Russia, as well as abroad.

He is fluent in English.

