Subject: Peer review for the inauguration of Ass. Prof. Tatiana Bužeková for the title “Professor of Religious Studies” at Faculty of Arts of Comenius University

The Faculty of Arts of Comenius University in Bratislava has asked me to participate in the evaluation committee for the inauguration of Ass. Prof. Tatiana Bužeková, who is applying for the title of “Professor of Religious Studies” at Faculty of Arts of Comenius University in Bratislava.

On the basis of the documentation I received on 10 July 2024, I find that the candidate meets all the required standards for promotion to a higher title Professor of Religious Studies.

Argumentation:

The documents provided to me on 10 July 2024 show that the candidate has made exceptional academic achievements in the field of religious studies. Her research contributions have significantly enhanced the understanding of key concepts and theories within the discipline and demonstrate a high level of expertise and innovation.

In addition, the candidate's pedagogical work is exemplary, as demonstrated by her commitment to fostering a stimulating learning environment for students. Her teaching methods have proven effective in motivating students and encouraging their critical thinking, which has had a positive impact on student learning and development.

The candidate's professional work within the academic community is also noteworthy. She has actively contributed to conferences, publications and collaborations within the field, demonstrating her strong commitment to the advancement of knowledge and scholarship in Religious Studies.

Overall, the candidate's comprehensive fulfilment of both the qualitative and quantitative criteria makes her a highly deserving candidate for the title of Professor of Religious Studies.

Based on the evidence presented, I am confident in recommending the candidate for promotion to Professor in the field of Religious Studies because she has consistently met and exceeded the required standards for scholarly excellence, pedagogical work, and professional contributions.

Kind regards,

Mojca Ramšak
